New Bayou Caddy casino unveiled

An artist's rendering of Phoenix Leisure Corp.'s planned casino, due to be complete later next year.

BY GEOFF BELCHER
Phoenix Leisure Corp. yesterday unveiled plans for its long-awaited casino which will be located at Bayou Caddy, saying the new facility should be complete by Fall 2000.

"This certainly is a big day for Hancock County," District Five Supervisor Philip Moran said yesterday before Phoenix officers discussed plans for the "gaming resort," which will not only replace, but apparently dwarf, the old Jubilee Casino which went out of business last year. According to developers' plans for the resort, it will have an "island paradise" theme that will include a hotel with 200 guestrooms and suites; a specialty restaurant which will feature locally-caught seafood; and a "party patio" which will be used to present live music, events and concerts.

"The resort site represents one of the most pristine, ecologically-diverse areas of natural beauty remaining along the Gulf Coast," Phoenix Chief Financial Officer Deborah Hawkins said yesterday at the presentation before the Hancock County Board of Supervisors and in a press release issued before the media event. "One of our goals is to respect the environmental balance of the surrounding beach, bayou and wetlands by building a facility that complements this natural setting."

According to the press release, the casino will be built

Locals busted for pot Drug arrests going strong

BY ED LEPOMA

Hancock County's Narcotics Task Force recently arrested four suspects on drug-related charges.

The latest arrest was made Monday. Task Force Director Shane Corr said that at about 5:50 p.m. Monday, Alex Oshay Robinson, 22, of 9147 Selliers Place, Picayune, was arrested on five counts of sale of a controlled substance -- crack cocaine.

Robinson was arrested by Officer Trent Boyd and Sgt. Michael Prendergast of the Waveland Police Department when officers responded to a domestic dispute call at 157 Phillip Drive in Waveland.

Corr said Robinson was among those being sought during the recent Operation: Incarceration. His bond was set at $50,000, and NTF Agent Howard Parker is in charge of the investigation.

Two earlier arrests were made Sunday, Corr said. At about 12:55 a.m., Lt. Tim Broder and Deputy Abe Long conducted a traffic stop on Interstate 10 at the two-mile marker. During the investigation, they discovered that Wayne-Joseph Van Dyke, 25, of 154 Middle Park Place, New Orleans, was allegedly in possession of a controlled substance, marijuana. Bond for Van Dyke was set at $1,500. Agent John Bordages Jr. is in charge of the investigation.

At 5:54 a.m. on Sunday, Deputy Ray Bielleud conducted a traffic stop on Hwy. 603 in Kiln.

David L. Bowman Jr., 30, of 6426 Lower Bay Road, Bay St. Louis, was arrested for allegedly driving under the influence. During the search, Bielleud located a large amount of marijuana in Bowman's vehicle. Bowman's bail was set at $5,000, and he bonded out. Bordages is in charge of the investigation.

Drug task force busy

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS

Hancock County Multi-Task Force Director Shane Corr reports 128 drug-related arrests have been made between January 1 and July 6.

The vast majority of the arrests -- 69 of the 128 -- were made in the county outside the city limits of Bay St. Louis and Waveland.

During the same period, he said, there were 33 drug-related arrests in Bay St. Louis and 26 in Waveland.

The drug-related arrests included five for prescription forgery, according to Corr's report.

The amount of drugs confiscated during the arrests included marijuana, 22,468.62 grams; crack cocaine, 83.55 grams; powder cocaine, 85.84 grams; methamphetamine, 15,913.36 grams; LSD, 100 hits; heroin, 33.30 grams; and opium, 15 grams.

The largest number of arrests were made for the sale of crack cocaine -- 45 -- according to the report.

There were 21 arrests for the sale of marijuana and four for manufacture; nine arrests for the sale of narcotic pills; nine for the possession of crack cocaine; and lesser numbers for other drug violations.

Local soldier is in Kosovo Wants treats from home

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS

Kosovo may be on the other side of the world, yet it has an impact on a former Hancock County career soldier and his military family.

Sergeant First Class Roy D. Lee, a 1986 graduate of Hancock North Central, is one of several thousand of his division from his Army base in Bamberg, Germany who arrived last month in Kosovo.

In his first communication received from Kosovo by his mother, Jan Spiers, now of Poplarville, her son reported "Life is good, but the 'goodies' is short. Feel free to send comfort items to this address (or replace my name with 'Any Soldier'). We are doing well, but there is currently nowhere to get the nice things to have, like homemade cookies or other snacks."

In going to Kosovo, Sgt. Lee left his wife Marlon and their six-year-old daughter Natascha in Bamberg, Germany, Spiers said.

those maintained by state aid was a priority of his when he first took office almost four years ago.

"When we were first elected, at the second meeting of the Board of Supervisors, I moved to put this road on the priority list," Moran said. "But, it has taken this long to finally get this project off the drawing

Bay Council still taking action on parking lot

BY MARY G. SHELLEY

Bay St. Louis City Council agreed Tuesday to pull the power plug from three streetlights in the Murphy's parking lot on Beach Boulevard.

And council was briefed on plans that the administration has to paint lines for new public parking slots just to the left and right of the Murphy's lot entranceway. Meanwhile, officials issued a "stop work" order on the tiny ticket booth that's been posted at the entrance.

The actions come in a continuing flap over a lot that's been used for years as free parking, between the Fire Dog Saloon and Chessey's Antiques.

While the city operated the property as a public facility, paying the property and providing lighting, the town didn't own the tract nor have a current lease on it.

Last month, members of the Murphy family notified the city they've acquired the property in a plan to develop a downtown hotel and related beachfront facilities.

While waiting on those plans to solidify, the Murphys asked the city to pay $3,000 a month rent to keep the lot open for public parking.

The city refused, and ordered up a $12,000 parking study for downtown.

Tuesday, council member Tad Black said it's not fair for taxpayers to continue paying $8 per month for each of the three street lights that are in the lot. Council agreed.

Council also agreed with the mayor's idea of putting several additional public parking slots literally abutting the entranceway to the fee-paid lot.

Only council member Connie Lamplsey balked at that idea initially thinking the city planned to stretch public parking slots all the way across the Murphy's lot, including its driveway. "You wouldn't dare..." she protested.

But as soon the plan was clarified, Lamplsey agreed that there's good free parking spaces going to waste on either side of the Murphy's entrance.

None of the actions took Ray Murphy by surprise Wednesday. He said he'd anticipated the city would move to shut off the street lighting. "I didn't think they'd do anything but that. We expected that," said Murphy.

It's hardly "lights out," however, for the lot.

"I think we can afford $24 a month," Murphy said. He added he's already contacted the power company about changing the billing.

Murphy said the city ought to be considering how to re-pay taxpayers for paving a privately owned property. And, he said, the city should be aware that his property line extends two feet outward from the cabled entranceway into the street.

In a related squabble, Murphy said city officials issued a stop work order last Thursday on the ticket booth that's been set down at the driveway. He said building officials are demanding the booth be anchored to the ground with hurricane straps capable of withstanding 100-mile-per-hour winds.

"I said, 'Boy, they just don't give up,'" Murphy recalled. He said the building is a portable structure, designed so it may be moved during imminent high winds. If his booth has to be anchored to sustain disaster winds, so do all the port-a-lots in town, Murphy added.

Besides, he said, construction of the booth is complete, except for a paint job.

"It's a shame everybody's got to be childish and juvenile" over the situation, Murphy said of city officials. Asked if he's about to throw in the towel amid the series of difficulties, Murphy said, "No. They ought to know better than that."

Closure of the lot for free parking has sent some cost-conscious motorists to search for free slots elsewhere in town. One citizen complained Monday that so many cars had wheeled on the sidewalks along Court Street, that pedestrians had to take to the street for passage.

City Council members agreed that it's illegal to park on the sidewalks, and costly in terms of the damage that it does.

Police Chief Frank McNeil said in an interview that his department has not been aggressive in issuing tickets for such, but responds to specific complaints.

Any citizen is free to complain about sidewalk parking incidents, he said, and the police will take action. "If we get a complaint, we go out and deal with it. The pedestrian has the right to walk on the sidewalk, as much as the car has the right to drive in the street," said the chief.

That's not the same approach that police take in Gulfport or New Orleans, said Murphy, who's a former Bay St. Louis police chief and who works part-time for the Gulfport Police Department. "Nobody has to complain about parking on the sidewalk there." Motorists are ticketed or towed off by police for such infractions elsewhere, said Murphy.

Poll workers needed in Hancock

BY ED LEPOMA

Local Republican and Democratic leaders in Hancock County are looking for poll workers for the upcoming August 3 primaries.

If you're interested, there are two training sessions scheduled this coming week at the Hancock County Courthouse, 150 Main Street in downtown Bay St. Louis.

The training will take place in the Hancock County Election Commission office located directly behind the courthouse.

The first session is scheduled for 7 p.m. Tuesday, July 27, with a second session scheduled for 5 p.m. on Thursday, July 29.

A spokesman in the Circuit Clerk's office said only one training session is required, and each session should last about one hour.

The only other requirement is that poll workers must be registered voters in Hancock County.

Poll workers must stay at the voting precincts they are assigned to from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m. on election day, Aug. 3. They are paid $75 for the day.

Workers who pick up the tally box at each precinct and return it to be counted at the courthouse the night of the election can make an extra $20.

Election officials are seeking a minimum of three Democrats and three Republicans at each of the county's 28 precincts, which would require at least 168 poll workers. So far, about 120 people have been certified.

For more details, call the Circuit Clerk's office at 467-5265 or Republican Executive Committee Chairman Dr. Andrew Martinovich at 467-4575 or Democratic Committee Executive Chairman Mike Benvenuti at 467-0570.

Pass opens temporary seniors center

Mayor Billy McDonald of Pass Christian has announced the opening of a temporary senior citizens building at Church Street on the grounds of Pass Christian High School, the former band hall.

McDonald said the building will be used until January of next year when the permanent facility at the middle school cafeteria on Clark Street officially becomes the permanent facility for the senior citizens. "This change came about because of the deplorable condition of the old building used by the senior citizens on Second Street which was damaged by Hurricane Georges," McDonald said.

"The building on Second Street, which is the former police and fire station, is being evaluated for structural damage. There is no way I would justify returning our senior citizens to that facility in the condition it is in," said McDonald.

Lott said she was alerted early in the morning.

"I was in my kitchen, sitting in my pajamas, having my first cup of coffee," said Lott. "And, this fellow in a truck came by, honking his horn. He told me I'd better get to my restaurant. There was a big old hole in the north side of the building."

The restaurant is normally closed on Mondays, and Lott said the security alarm had not gone off right away. But, eventually the security company did call her, she said.

Lott went to survey the damages about 9:10 a.m.

"The tires came through the storage room, and plowed through the air conditioning units, then came to a stop," Lott said. "They were laying down on the floor flat as a fritter."

Lott said there were two eye witnesses to the incident, who helped her and investigating officials trace down the owner of the vehicle.

"There's no problem," she said. "They have offered to pay for all the damages."

She said an electrician was on duty Tuesday restoring power, and she will have to purchase two air-conditioning units.

The restaurant has been operating in the Kiln for 18 years and recently closed down about a week while the kitchen was remodeled and a new dining area was added on the north side.

Lott said she hoped to reopen today.

THE RIGHT LEADERSHIP FOR TOMORROW YOUR "FULL TIME" SUPERVISOR THOMAS "TOM" WILLIAMS DISTRICT 4 SUPERVISOR 467-4992

In answer to the present District 4 Supervisor's statement in his political ad that he has made being District 4 Supervisor his FULL TIME profession and has been PUTTING THE PEOPLE FIRST, I would like to ask him how he feels that he has been a "Full-Time" supervisor when, in actuality, according to Mississippi Ethics Commission records, during his 4 year tenure he has been a Sales Representative for E. Woods & Associates and has been the Owner/Operator of Dixieland Dirt. How can he say that he has been "Putting You, The People, First?"

I would like to issue a challenge to Mr. Seymour to meet me "One-On-One" in a debate concerning the issues of a "Full-Time" Supervisor for the people and other issues concerning District 4.

Sincerely,
Thomas "Tom" Williams

"CUEVAS" QUOTES

Do not forget the Chamber of Commerce Business After Hours this evening from 5 to 7 at the Hancock County Library, Highway 90 Service Road, Bay St. Louis.

This month's Business After Hours is sponsored by the Hancock County Health Council.

I am told this will be one of those special evenings, and it is open to chamber members and guests. Admission is two business cards, and there will be door prizes. I hope to see you there tonight.

This morning at 8 a.m. Hal Leftwich, FACHE will address the Diamondhead Business and Professional Association at its regular monthly meeting.

Leftwich, Hancock Medical Center administrator, will talk about the hospital's improvements, hospital-sponsored school clinics, and community outreach plans.

The meeting will be held at the Diamondhead Park Ten Lanes, and association members and guests are invited.

Just think, two weeks from tomorrow school bells will be ringing for the Bay-Waveland School District's new year.

I can remember the times when it was Sept. 6 when our school year began.

The summer vacation for students is getting shorter and shorter each year. On the other hand there are many more long breaks during the school year.

I wonder if parents are ready for their children to start school.

Folks do not want to forget the Hancock Medical Center-sponsored reception for Rev. Charles Johnson set for Friday, July 30, from 3 to 5 p.m.

As most of you know, Father Johnson, president of Hancock Medical Center's board of trustees, was recently honored by the Mississippi Hospital Association as the organizations state Trustee of the Year.

This is a great honor for Father Johnson, and I am hoping there will be a very large turnout next Friday from the community to show him how proud we are of his accomplishments.

The Hancock County Community Task Force to Save Our Children (S.O.S.) is already making preparation for the school year.

Registrations are underway by S.O.S. for its after-school homework assistance and tutoring program.

During the school year, from August through May 2, the program runs from 2 to 5 p.m. Monday through Thursday.

Registration fee is only $10, and that is for the entire school year and covers supplies and afternoon snacks.

The center is located at 405 Nacaise Avenue in Bay St. Louis.

I spoke to Geraldine Lang, organization president, and she said they can also use a few more tutors.

For further information call the center at 466-0401, or Mrs. Lang at 467-9586.

CAMPAIGN PROMISE

Consumer News for Families

By Mark S. Mandell & Edward A. Williamson

"What difference can one person make?"

At times, it seems the fight to safeguard the health and well-being of our families and children is a never-ending battle against larger, more powerful entities. Who among us has not had this oft-used lament pop into our heads when confronted with difficult or troubling situations?

Well, perish that thought, because you can make a difference in the safety of America's families. In fact, it was the efforts of one family and lawyer in Wisconsin that significantly contributed to the recent recall of a dangerous child stroller from store shelves.

On February 17, 1999, the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) and Cosco Inc. of Columbus, Indiana, announced the recall of almost 60,000 "Geoby Two Ways" tandem strollers, model numbers 01-644 and 01-645 (with car seat), manufactured from February 1997 through February 1998.

And it was a New Berlin, Wisconsin, family's reporting of this dangerous stroller to a local attorney that contributed to this safety step.

On July 9, 1998, Katrine Friis, now age 2, was securely fastened in a Cosco's "Two Ways" tandem stroller with her twin brother when, without warning, the stroller collapsed. Katrine was thrown onto the street. Her arm was caught in the stroller's locking system, which cut her flesh and caused her arm to fracture. Wanting to prevent this from ever happening to another family, the Friis family contacted Jay Urban and the Milwaukee law firm of Techmeier & Van Grunsven.

When Urban started to investigate these strollers, he discovered that the weak locking mechanism (small metal triangles and plastic clips) was responsible for the collapse. Cosco even sold a stronger replacement mechanism for more money, a seeming acknowledgment of the weakness of the normal mechanism, but consumers were never made aware of this.

Cosco also had received 3,000 complaints about the stroller without informing the CPSC. Amazingly, a simple pin would have made the basic locking mechanism stronger and safer on these strollers.

Concerned about his findings and the potential danger to other children, Urban contacted the CPSC through its Web site to notify the safety agency of this dangerous stroller. Urban and the Friis family also provided the stroller that injured Katrine to the CPSC for confirmation testing. The CPSC's decision to issue a recall is based in part on their efforts.

"The Friis family's first thought was how can we help prevent this terrible thing from happening to other young children," recalls Urban. "My wife and I are expecting a child this summer and have been shopping for strollers. I couldn't believe that a company could know that its baby product was hazardous, market a replacement part, and not tell consumers about the present danger."

Urban's decision to do something about dangerous children's products such as this collapsible stroller came in response to both the CPSC's recent request for America's lawyers to report potentially dangerous products and toys, and the Association of Trial Lawyers of America's call for lawyers to become a part of its "Keep Our Families Safe" initiative, a long-range national project aimed at improving and safeguarding the health and well-being of America's children and families.

Taking on a multi-million dollar corporation can be a daunting task. "But the more we thought about it, we just couldn't let this peril go unnoticed by consumers," Jay Urban said.

What the Friis family and Jay Urban have done is a shining example of the difference American consumers can make each and every day across this country. The recall of this defective child stroller proves that families, consumer groups, lawyers and businesses can work together to reach a common goal - protecting the health, safety and well-being of children, our most precious commodity.

For more information on the stroller recall, consumers should either call Cosco at (800) 221-6736 or visit the CPSC Web site at <http://www.cpsc.gov>.

For more health and safety information and tips, please visit ATLA's "Keep Our Families Safe" Web site at <http://family.safety.atla.org>.

Taylor named to key House-Senate panel

Speaker of the House, J. Dennis Hastert, formally announced the appointment of a select group of House members who will meet in a conference committee with key senators to negotiate the Fiscal Year 2000 National Defense Authorization Act. Among those chosen was South Mississippi Congressman Gene Taylor.

Taylor, a senior member of the House Armed Services Committee, was assigned to the following conference panels: Military Installations and Facilities, Research and Development, and Military Readiness. Representative Taylor was also named the ranking member of the House-Senate conference panel on Military Installations and Facilities.

"I'm honored to be selected again to serve as a conferee," said Taylor. "As a member of the conference, I'll be in a position to ensure that a number of issues which are important to our nation's defense and South Mississippi are in the final bill."

While the starting date for the negotiations has not yet been decided, the conference panels will likely begin meeting during the week of July 12. Conferences are named to iron out differences between the defense bills passed by the House and Senate. Based on the work of conferees, the bill will then go back to each chamber for final passage.

VA care for Purple Heart recipients

Senator Chuck Robb (D-VA) introduced a bill in February that would guarantee access to VA hospitals for recipients of the Purple Heart.

The Combat Veterans Medical Equity Act of 1999 - S. 329 - also would give combat wounded vets the same VA enrollment priority as that of former POWs and vets with service-connected ratings of between 10 percent to 20 percent disability.

Currently, the Purple Heart does not qualify a veteran for automatic VA medical care. According to the Military Order of the Purple Heart, there are some 580,000 Purple Heart recipients living today.

But the organization believes only about 5 percent of that number would be affected by the legislation.

VA DOCS CAN NOW LEND CLAIMS HELP

A new VA directive allows its physicians to provide opinions in support of VA claims. Before the directive was issued last November, VA doctors were restricted from such action.

"This new policy has the ability to substantively assist veterans with their claims," said Fred Juarbe, VFW's director of national veterans service.

A favorable opinion does not necessarily result in a favorable claims decision or vice versa.

Decisions are made by VA, not by a veteran's health care provider.

Students deserve innovative ideas like school choice

For too long many legislators have come to Jackson, done the will of the education establishment, talked about "the children," and pointed to all the bells and whistles they give school administrators and the many other non-teaching beneficiaries of political pork.

They then return home to stand for re-election with the financial support of the teachers' unions, while seemingly ignoring the many detrimental changes our public school system has undergone.

I made a simple proposal: we permit those children trapped in the poorest performing public school districts to attend any school. This proposal received response on two levels from the school establishment and its water carriers in the Legislature: it was bitterly attacked by some liberal legislators and blatantly ignored by others. These legislators branded our limited school choice proposal as deliberately destructive and nebulous.

I appreciate the efforts of those legislators who have consistently supported our work to instill accountability in the education system. However, even the very limited school choice option Senator Jim Bean proposed, passed by the Mississippi Senate, was defeated by the House.

Is it not time to cease partisan posturing -- to end cycles of illiteracy? We should operate public education for the benefit of the children it exists to educate. When old ideas do not work, we must consider alternative like school choice. School choice and vouchers are sweeping the nation, but are not allowed to see the light of day in Mississippi.

The Clarion-Ledger wrote: "What if vouchers required more accountability by teachers and administrators? What if vouchers improved integration? What if . . . the ideas are endless?"

Some students who could have had bright futures are emerging from schools with diplomas they can no more read than if they were written in Sanskrit or Egyptian hieroglyphics. We have some whose agenda is more social engineering than the most basic elements of education: reading, writing and arithmetic.

According to the 1994 National Assessment of Educational Progress, Mississippi is consistently at the bottom of reading scores -- ranking 36th out of 39 states, with 55 percent of fourth graders reading below the proficiency level. Is this the best return we can expect on the taxpayers' investment of $1.8 billion this year?

We are all failing the children on whom the future of this nation depends. While education professionals bicker and press forward pet schemes, while politicians use rhetorical skills to sound the alarm and position themselves to gain political advantage, the public education system's failure in this one fundamental ingredient for a good education endangers us all.

Now is the time for innovative ideas. I hope those running for office this year realize the need for school choice and carry forward the torch.

New ordinance requires residents to change addresses

BY MARY G. SHELLEY

Officials took a major step Tuesday toward re-addressing Bay St. Louis.

City Council — acknowledging the controversy that almost surely will come later — enacted an ordinance requiring all residents to obtain new four-digit street numbers.

Local maps are tangled with out-of-sequence numbers and duplicative street names.

At the urging of emergency and safety personnel, the city recently agreed to authorize a complete re-numbering system that should make it much easier to locate any dwelling or structure in the city.

An ordinance enacted Tuesday makes it mandatory for citizens to participate by removing their old address numbers and putting up new ones. Refusal to do so is punishable by a fine of no less than $10 and no more than $100 per day.

Officials said Wednesday, however, that implementation of the new system is months away, and there will be a grace period of a year after notification are sent out to all residents.

It's bound to be controversial, officials acknowledge, despite its obvious advantage for emergency personnel trying to locate specific spots in town.

"As much as I hate to..." said council member Tad Black when he voted in favor of the ordinance Tuesday night. He forecast objections from residents who have had the same address numbers for decades.

Council President Carleen Moran echoed that sentiment. "I fully expect to get major grief over it," Moran said Wednesday, but only when the public receives official notification that the program is being implemented. "That's when it's going to hit the fan."

Police Chief Robert Gavnagie said Wednesday that grid maps are being finalized for Bay St. Louis, preparatory to assigning numbers to each piece of property. Hancock County was put under a five-digit system several years ago, he said, and work is progressing on a re-numbering of Waveland as well.

Despite temporary inconvenience of renumbering, said the chief, the new system will be a major boost to law enforcement and ambulance personnel trying to locate the source of distress calls. "It's going to be a real good system and real easy for everyone."

The grid mapping system is being sponsored through the county 911 Commission. Gavnagie said it would be well into the year 2000 before it is actually implemented in Bay St. Louis.

Class-action lawsuit on hold

BY ED LEPOMA

Plans to file a class-action lawsuit challenging recent reassessment of property taxes in Hancock County are temporarily on hold.

"It's sleeping, but it's not dead," said Mary Sindors of Waveland, one of many taxpayers who has accused county officials of botching the last reappraisal made in 1997.

Sindors also heads up Hancock Citizens for Responsible Dumping, which is fighting a proposed landfill in Hancock County.

She said the landfill issue is now her "top priority," and the reappraisal battle was now "on the back burner."

Last November, the citizens had announced they planned to file a class-action suit and hired attorney David Snelling of Picayune.

But, Snelling had to bow out due to family problems, Sindors said, and the group will have to get another attorney.

The group of about 50 property owners contend that the appraisals were unfair and inequitable, a claim that retiring Tax Collector and Assessor Eddie Murtagh has denied.

Hancock County Hospitality Academy to offer employer/employee training

Hancock County Hospitality Academy, recently unveiled by the Community Education program, Chamber of Commerce and Tourism Development Bureau, has secured a new source of funding to address training needs of the local hospitality industry.

A School of Careers Grant for 1999-2000, awarded to the Hancock County School District, includes funding for employer/employee training for such topics as legal issues, labor shortages and recruitment, customer service, mentoring and performance reviews.

"Training seminars will be customized to best fit the time schedules and work needs of the employers and employees of the local hospitality industry," said Dr. Gaynell Roberts, Community Education director.

Quite a few local companies have already registered for training in the academy's first seminar, "Customer Service — Hancock County Style."

The seminar will be July 26, 8 a.m.-noon and July 27, 4-8 p.m.

Environmental Explorer Troop advisors needed

The Hancock County Chamber Environmental Committee is trying to identify adults who would be willing to serve as advisors to a new Environmental Explorer Troop.

Even though this is a Boy Scout program, both young ladies and men ages 14 to 21 will be participating, therefore both men and women advisors are needed.

You need to be able to meet at least monthly with the troop and be willing to participate in periodic activities at other times during the year.

Those who would like to volunteer as advisors or need more information, contact Ron Magee, at 228-688-7384.

Both sessions will be conducted at the Bay St. Louis Library.

The focus of the School to Careers Grant is to address a local labor shortage area and to assist local business and industry with training needs for their current and future employees.

"The hospitality industry certainly seems to be experiencing a shortage of labor in Hancock County," according to Frances Weiler, grant director.

Funding from the grant will provide community education scholarships for those employers and employees who are not able to afford or arrange training within their own company.

Employers or employees interested in training may contact the Community Education office at 228-467-3892.

Seniors find new avenue for property tax relief

While politicians and homeowners alike clamor to identify ways in which the issue of property taxes can be resolved, many homeowners have discovered the only solution they will ever need.

The solution comes in the form of the FFA program for reverse mortgages. The program allows homeowners 62 years of age and older to draw income from their home equity without requiring repayment for as long as they occupy the home. Unfortunately the program can't do anything to lower the amount of property taxes which a participant will pay. What it can do, however, is provide the necessary funds to pay the taxes when they are due. In most cases the participant can do this by establishing a "line of credit" which will be available to pay the property taxes. This completely eliminates the need for homeowners to make monthly installment payments toward their property taxes.

The "line of credit" is very similar to a "home equity line of credit" which one might get at a bank with two notable exceptions. Unlike a bank line of credit, an individual can draw as much as they wish from the line up to their predetermined limit and never make a monthly payment on the account.

The second difference is that the reverse mortgage line of credit will actually increase in value by about 7% per year. As long as a participant has an available line of credit, the account will continue to grow.

By providing the homeowner with another source of income which they can use to satisfy their property tax requirements, participants are able to use their fixed income for living expenses and to not have to worry about setting aside money every month to meet the property tax needs. This translates into extra income to use for the process of living.

Although this program has been very popular nationally, many eligible participants still do not realize that this alternative is available to them. The majority of those who are seeking this program so far have indicated that paying property taxes each year is a major consideration in their decision to look into the program.

The concern which many seniors have is that they will not be put in a position where they must choose between living the quality life that they are used to by selling the home or lower their quality of life and remain in the home.

This is a choice that most older homeowners simply do not want to make. With the reverse mortgage program the participants are able to make their property tax payments without having to use their fixed income resources. To learn more, individuals can contact Jeffrey Moulton of the Reverse Mortgage Department at (800) 920-2226.

Bay teacher attends Center workshop

Lynn Meadows Discovery Center hosted a workshop conducted by storytellers Bev Twillman of Knoxville, Tenn. and Berry Bateman of Baton Rouge.

The workshop, Interpretive Voices, encourages participants to utilize their creativity and imagination in presenting programming to children.

"By transferring information into image," said Twillman, "individuals who work with children can go beyond the spoken word to create excitement about learning."

Volunteers and staff from the Discovery Center, as well as teachers from area schools attended the seminar. "Using my voice as a tool for management and motivation in my classroom," said Stacey Gorum, multi-age teacher at North Bay Elementary, "will allow my students to have a more stimulating learning environment."

Twillman and Bateman did a series of hands-on activities "to activate everyone's six senses - taste, smell, hearing, touching, seeing and emotion."

Afterward, participants chose an exhibit in the Discovery Center where they could develop a story for presentation to children.

"As a teacher, I feel children need to be led as they explore," said Mary Felder, second grade teacher at Harper-McCaughan Elementary in Long Beach.

"Through this workshop, I understand that children want the story as they explore, not just the facts and information." A grant from the Mississippi Arts Commission funded the workshop.

OLA seniors give 2,000 hours of community service

Two-thirds of Our Lady Academy's Class of 1999 performed over 2,000 hours of volunteer community service during their junior and senior years through OLA's Christian Service Experience Program.

Started two years ago when OLA adopted the four-by-four block scheduling, the Christian Service Experience Program is offered as a non-credit course to juniors and seniors who may select an agency within the community where they wish to give volunteer service.

The students are asked to keep a daily journal with personal reflections and meet occasionally with the CSE coordinator, Sister Elisa Bauman.

The 22 OLA '99 graduates and the places in which they gave their service include:

Leslie Bennett, OLA campus, Waveland Animal Shelter and

Hancock Medical Center
 Courtney Scianna, Bay Catholic Elementary, Bay-Waveland Elementary Special Education and Waveland Animal Shelter

Julie Sellier, Pass Christian Library and Dunbar Village
 Aimee Boudreaux, April Ebrite and Olivia Willis, North Bay Elementary
 Colleen Bohn, Michelle Cuevas, Jeanie Fortenberry, Kimberly Martin, Diana Nguyen and Ashley Vinnett, Dunbar Village

Chevonne Daigre, Leslie Esher, Kim Frazier and Ann-Marie Perina, Hotel Reed
 Shay Coss, Sheri Ladner and Delia Pottee, Waveland Animal Shelter

Patricia Williams, St. Clare Lindsey Rogers and Elissa Tucker, Bay-Waveland Elementary Special Education.

OLA volunteers

Twenty-two Our Lady Academy seniors received service pins at the annual awards ceremony in May for their volunteer service in OLA's Christian Service Experience Program.

Grand Casino Biloxi features exciting night of 'live boxing'

On Friday, July 30, Grand Casino Biloxi, in conjunction with M&M Sports and Square Ring, Inc., will host a night of live knockout boxing at the Biloxi Grand Theatre.

The action-packed evening will feature not one, but two main events. GM to return for 1999-2000 season

The Mississippi Sea Wolves, the 1999 East Coast Hockey League Kelly Cup Champions, announced that General Manager Brian Kelley will be remaining with the organization for the 1999-2000 season.

Kelley oversees all day-to-day operations for the Sea Wolves' organization. A 1992 University of Notre Dame graduate, Kelley served as the director of business operations for the ECHL Hampton Roads Admirals during the 1996-97 and 1997-98 seasons before coming to the Gulf Coast in July of 1998.

The Admirals captured the Kelly Cup during post-season play in the spring of 1998. Kelley and his wife, Mary, reside in Gulfport and are expecting their first baby in August. Sea Wolves majority owner John Gagnon, commenting on Kelley said, "The Sea Wolves franchise is very happy to have Brian back to provide continuity to the organization."

"This will be the first time in our history that we'll have had the same GM for two years in a row. Hopefully Brian will bring us the same success he brought the first year."

Kelley said, "When I came to Biloxi last summer, I said that our goal was straightforward -- to bring the Kelly Cup to Mississippi. That part of the plan will not change. It's always fun to be the only team with an opportunity to defend a title."

"But with that said, the organization has a lot of goals for next season, both on and off the ice, and I'm excited to have the opportunity to help the club achieve those goals."

The Sea Wolves also announced that Robert Flahiff will return to the team as equipment manager for the 1999-2000 season. Flahiff served in the same capacity during the 1996-97 and 1997-98 seasons, but left last year for an opportunity in Europe.

He has found his way back to the Mississippi Gulf Coast. Flahiff will be responsible for the team's equipment budget and maintenance.

Hunter Education class

The Mississippi Department of Wildlife, Fisheries, and Parks is announcing two area Hunter Education/NBEF classes.

Legion ties with Harrison Central

Bay St. Louis American Legion Post 139 finished the summer season by splitting with Harrison Central last Thursday night.

In the first game, Bay St. Louis scored 15 runs on 16 hits to defeat Harrison Central 15-14.

Josh Ulrich hit a game-winning single to drive in two runs. Leading hitters were Josh Banashak, Kile Foster, Breeze Brockhoff and Ulrich.

In the second game, Harrison Central defeated Bay St. Louis 7-5. Kile Foster led the Bay St. Louis hitters.

Bay St. Louis ended the season with a 15-6 record

The classes will take place on July 29, 30, and August 2.

The classes will be held at the Fenton Community Center on Kiln-Delisle Road in the Fenton Community of Hancock County.

The classes will last from 5:45pm to 9pm each night.

If an individual was born on or after January 1, 1972, they must have a Hunter Education card to purchase a hunting license in the state of Mississippi.

The bow hunting class will teach students about deer anatomy, shot placement, and the length of time to wait for the perfect shot.

The class will also cover the use of lures, scents, deer stand safety, and deer trailing after the shot.

Even though the NBEF class is a bow hunting class, the gun hunters are more than welcome.

There is no cost for the classes but registration is a must. Please call 255-7126

Casino Magic Toughman Contest to air

The Toughman Contest held July 1 at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis airs on the FOX network's fx channel Friday, July 23 at 9 p.m.

The telecast will highlight two Gulf Coast natives, Chris Herbert and Jean White. Herbert, of Biloxi, won the Light Heavyweight Title of Toughest Man in the Area. Jean White, of Gulfport, earned second place in the Heavyweight Category.

Herbert, who was a crowd favorite, is a pit boss for Casino Magic Biloxi. The contest was a two-day elimination-boxing event for amateurs, held at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis and sold out both nights.

On the second and final night, Herbert fought three times, with a knockout in 32 seconds in the first round of his first fight, and then a knockout in the second round of his second fight in 59 seconds.

Herbert (6' 184 lbs.) and Parham (6' 175 lbs.) were the final matchup in the Light Heavyweight Category and went three rounds for a unanimous decision. There are three one-minute rounds in a Toughman Contest.

The standing room-only crowd cheered on heavyweight Kerry "The Barber" Pellegrini (5'11", 195 lbs.) of Chalmette, who defeated Jean White (6', 225 lbs.) of Gulfport.

White, who many suspected would win with his father being a former Toughman, was defeated with a unanimous decision by the judges.

Winners of each division receive a trophy and $1,000 purse. Runners-up receive a trophy and $250. The heavyweight winner receives the opportunity to participate in the Toughman Championship Contest for the Toughest Man in the World title, live on Pay Per View.

Winners from local and regional Toughman Contests will be competing for prize money up to $50,000. The Toughman Contest fought at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis will appear on FOX network's fx channel July 23.

Fire Dogs take bite out of Hawaii

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

The Mississippi Fire Dogs evened their record and kept their eye on the playoffs as they took a bite out of the Hawaii Hammerheads on Saturday in the Mississippi Coast Coliseum in front of 5,139 fans.

The Fire Dogs downed the Hammerheads 35-20 to rebound from a disappointing 44-41 loss to Texas a week earlier.

The Fire Dogs and the Hammerheads played a scoreless first quarter before John Fourcade connected with Jason Fletcher on a 35 yard scoring pass with 4:31 left in the first half.

Brad Rhodes made good on the point-after-touchdown and the score was 7-0.

Hawaii wasted no time in evening the score as Brendyn Agbayani scored from one yard out.

The PAT was good, evening the score at 7-7 with 1:57 left to play in the first half.

Mississippi reclaimed the lead with 1:00 left to play when Buster Browne score his first of two touchdowns in the game on a three yard run.

The two-point conversion missed, leaving the score at 13-7.

However, Hawaii moved quickly in the last minute of the first half.

Morrie Roe scored from one yard out with :01 left to play.

The PAT was good, giving the Hammerheads the slim 14-13 lead going into intermission.

Mississippi came out throwing in the second half as Fourcade connected on four straight passes to open the second half of play.

Fourcade connected with Kenny Causey on the fourth play of the second half on a 17 yard scoring pass.

Causey stripped an apparent interception in the endzone for the score.

The two-point conversion attempt was no good leaving the score at 19-14 with 12:12 left in the third quarter.

Two possessions later, Browne waited patiently for his blocking to open a lane and the wait paid off.

Browne saw a seam in the Hawaii defense and rammed 47 yards for the score.

The two-point conversion from Fourcade to Nicky Seymour was good, giving the Fire Dogs a 27-14 lead at the end of the third quarter.

On the opening play of Hawaii's next possession, quarterback Tim Carey was stripped of the football and Mississippi defensive back Edsel Lang recovered the loose ball.

That play set up a 26-yard scoring pass from Fourcade to Causey with 13:10 left to play in the game.

The PAT attempt was blocked leaving the score at 33-14.

Hawaii's bad luck continued on the next series as Carey was intercepted by Marqueeth Taylor.

But, three plays later, Fourcade was intercepted by Hawaii and the ball was returned for the Hammerheads final score of the game.

The two-point conversion was no good, leaving the score at 33-20 with 9:52 left to play in the game.

After the Fire Dog defense stiffened behind the play of Curtis Jeters and Clarence Robinson, the Fire Dogs got the ball back.

With 5:18 remaining in the game, Rhodes nailed a 17 yard two-point field goal to make the score 35-20.

Quarterback and head coach John Fourcade commented on the game, "The run by Buster Browne and Causey strip in the endzone were the backbreakers for Hawaii. Browne's scoring run was just sheer determination on his part. The play reminds me of how he has played all year, hard."

Mississippi will play at home on Sunday, August 2nd at 5:30 p.m.

First fish

Three-year-old Trace Necaise proudly displays his first fish, caught recently near Bayou Caddy. The young fisherman would not reveal the exact location of his fishing spot, but did say he was using shrimp for bait. Trace is the son of Becky and David Necaise of Hancock County and the grandson of Ken Monti of Bay St. Louis.

Sea Wolves game times announced

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

The Mississippi Sea Wolves, the 1999 Kelly Cup Champions of the East Coast Hockey League, have set their game times for the 1999-2000 season.

The games held Monday through Saturday will all start at 7:35 p.m. and Sunday games will begin at 6:05 p.m.

These game times are different from the times during the 1998-99 season.

Sea Wolves general manager Brian Kelley stated, "The purpose of changing the starting time for the weekday games is to provide consistency, as well as to give working people more time to get home to spend time with their families before coming to the game. Sunday is obviously a day of worship and outdoor family activities on the Coast and we do not want to interfere with that. Games will be over before 9 p.m. on Sundays, so parents will still have plenty of time to get their children home and ready for school the next day."

Kelley further commented, "We feel these times are more consistent with what our fans are requesting, and it is always our goal to provide our fans with what they want, which is fun, affordable family entertainment at times that fit into their busy schedule."

The Sea Wolves open the 1999-2000 season on October 14 at the Mississippi Coast Coliseum. Season tickets are on sale and can be obtained by calling the Sea Wolves office at 388-6151.

NHL hockey is coming to the Coast for the first time on September 18, when the Nashville Predators battle the Washington Capitals in the Mississippi Coast Coliseum.

Tickets can be bought at the Coliseum Box Office and at all TicketMaster outlets.

The price for the tickets range between $15 and $32.

Ladner School of Basketball set

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

The Ladner School of Basketball will hold its traditional camp at St. Stanislaus High School during the week of July 26-30.

The camp is in its 12th year and has expanded to a camp at Hancock High School early in the summer.

Organizers and moderators of the camp, Jay and Michael Ladner, say they have experienced tremendous growth over the last 12 years.

Their Hancock High School camp early in June has grown over the last two years.

They attribute the growth at both camps to basketball growing in Hancock County.

Jay Ladner is the head basketball coach at St. Stanislaus High School. He just finished his eighth season as the Rock mentor guiding them to their best season in wins with 31 and to the state playoffs held in Mendenhall.

Michael Ladner is the current boys head coach at Hancock High School where he graduated from in the early 1980s.

Before coming back home to lead the Hawks, Michael was an assistant coach for the University of Memphis Lady Tiger basketball team.

The camp is designed to teach the fundamentals of basketball in a structured and disciplines atmosphere.

The girls' camp will be run daily July 26-30 from 1:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m.

The boys camp will run daily from 5:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

The camp will be held at the Brother Peter Memorial Gymnasium on the campus of St. Stanislaus High School.

The cost per camper will be $50 and a camp t-shirt is included in the price.

There will be special sessions and motivational talks with Mississippi Sports Hall of Famers J. Roland Ladner and J. Larry Ladner.

For more information on the camp please call Jay Ladner at 255-4490 or Michael Ladner at 255-3857.

Second annual 'Blast' a huge success

Saturday morning started in bright sunshine and by 9 a.m. the classic cars and customized hot rods were lining up to register for Blast in the Bay 2, the annual fund-raising event to benefit the Hancock County Doll and Toy Fund.

Red was the hot color of the day, with steel-gray emerging as the newest color for cars on the show circuit, but then again, six shades of purple made a "Mardi Gras" party statement on the front lawn of the Depot.

Owners came from as far away as Buras, Baton Rouge and Mobile to strut their stuff. The City of Bay St. Louis and Southern Who Street Rod Association sponsored the show.

Bay artist Vicki Niolet designed the one-of-kind trophies presented. The trophies have become prized possessions of the car owners. The trophy features a paper relief of the historic Depot and other car-related memorabilia.

Even as the rains came the car owners stayed, waiting for those highly valued awards. While waiting out the judging guests enjoyed gourmet hot dogs, lemonade and browsed through the computer-generated graphic designs that they could have on shirts, hats.

Top 10 awards were presented to:

People's Choice: Jimmy Martin, Hammond, La., 1946 Ford Pickup

Best of Show: Paul Berwick, Walker, La., 1950 Chevrolet

Mayor's Choice: Richard Daves, 1947 Ford Sedan

Fire Chief's Choice: Paul Berwick, Walker, La., 1950 Chevrolet

Tony Burt, Raceland, La., 1934 Chevrolet Coupe

Frank Izymanski, Long Beach, 1986 Chevrolet Pickup

Larry Thiem, Long Beach, 1962 Chevrolet Corvette

Dewey Parr, Lockport, La., 1955 Ford F-100 Pickup

Serena Lewis, Ocean Springs, 1971 Chevrolet Camaro

Debbie and Maria Portachi, Mandeville, 1931 Ford

Southern Who Street Rod Association selected the following as their top three show cars:

Tim Johnson, Mandeville, 1968 Ford Shelby

T-Dud Landry, Plaquemines, La., 1957 Chevrolet Bel-Air

Auto enthusiasts braved the rains Saturday for the second annual Blast in the Bay classic car show at the historic Bay St. Louis Depot. The event benefitted the Hancock County Doll and Toy Fund and was a warm-up event for October's "Cruise the Coast," which is heralded as one of the largest moving car shows in the Southeast. (Echo staff photos by Geoff Belcher)

Terry Espange, Buras, La., 1967 Dodge Monaco

Dudley's Glass-sponsored trophies were presented to:

Steve Mitchell, Gulfport, 1955 Chevrolet

Paul Berwick, Walker, La., 1950 Chevrolet

Phil Rumsfeld, Port Allen, La., 1951 Chevrolet

Wayne Larson, Chalmette, 1967 Ford

Pete Barquet, Slidell, 1955

Ford Jason Hickson, Baton Rouge, 1973 Camaro

Jimmy Martin, Hammond, 1946 Ford Pickup

Danny Thibodaux, Westwego, 1939 Chevrolet Sedan

Joe Feliciano, Metairie, 1941 Chevrolet

Charley Miller, Gulfport, 1960 Chevrolet

In between the showers adults and kids competed in the Car Parts Olympics.

Aubrey Brown and Nathaniel Adler won the lug nut toss. The most agile competitors unlocking padlocks were Tony Catania and Debra Hall.

David Hall and Michael Adler tossed the air filter the farthest. The winners of the push rod event were Laura Brown and Mary Katherine Johnson.

At the end of the day Southern Who presented Bay Fire Chief Robert Gavagnie over $2,000 for the Doll and Toy Fund, which is managed by the local fire department to benefit children and families throughout Hancock County at Christmas.

"We are so grateful to the car owners, the club and all the guests we had for this fun day in the Bay. The event continues to grow, the winners are as special as their cars, and we all benefit from this great day. Thanks to everyone," said Chief Gavagnie.

Take measures now to prevent lost pets

By Bonnie Coblenz
MSU Ag Communications

Losing a pet can be traumatic for everyone involved, but owners can take steps to increase the chances their pet won't get away and that if it does, it will be returned.

Dr. Fred Lehman, Extension veterinarian with Mississippi State University's College of Veterinary Medicine, said preventing a pet from getting away is the first line of defense.

"We recommend a fenced yard of adequate dimensions to prevent your pets from escaping," Lehman said. "If no other options are available, use a good collar and a proper length chain to restrain the pet."

Lehman said stray pets are more likely to be picked up or noticed if they are wearing a collar. Without a collar, the pet many times receives no help.

A newer method of pet restraint is an electronic security system. This works by burying electronic wires around the perimeter of the area the dog is to be confined in. The dog wears a special collar that provides a negative stimulus if the animal crosses the line.

This method is not foolproof, as power outages makes them fail. Some dogs also learn that once they cross the line the negative sensation ends, but most owners find the system to be an effective way to confine dogs.

"But even with a means to contain the pet, each animal should wear a form of identification to protect them if they are lost," Lehman said.

The most common identifier is the serial number on the animal's rabies vaccination tag. This tag also carries the veterinarian's phone number, and the veterinarian can trace the lost pet's owner by looking up the serial number.

Some owners choose to hang a medal on the collar or attach a plate to the collar that provides the owners name and phone number. Other collars can be ordered with similar information woven into the fabric.

Tattooing electronic identification offer permanent means of identifying a pet. Tattoos usually are placed either in the ear or groin area and can contain short messages such as a traceable serial number or phone number. Tattooing must be done in a veterinarian's office under sedation.

"Tattooing is recommended particularly for those dogs that are at high risk of being lost, such as hunting dogs," Lehman said. "Some owners have the procedure done when the animal is in the veterinary office for other surgery. Tattooing provides proof of ownership, and also can help a person trace an owner if the pet is lost."

Dr. Cory Langston, head of community practice at MSU's veterinary college, said electronic identification requires a small chip be injected under the animal's skin between the shoulder blades. The process requires no anesthesia and is used for dogs, cats, horses, birds and more.

General Motors sends student and instructor to contest

Jeremy Henley, an automotive service technology student from Hancock County Vo Tech Center, is a contestant at the Vocational Industrial Clubs of America (VICA) 35th National Leadership Conference and SkillsUSA Championships.

The events are being held in Kansas City, Mo., June 29-July 2. General Motors is sponsoring Henley's trip. GM is one of the more than 1,000 companies, trade associations and labor organizations working in cooperation with VICA to improve vocational education.

Henley is one of some 12,000 students, instructors and others attending the conference from across the nation. Participants in the SkillsUSA

"The owners send in the registration to the company providing the chip, and the company keeps a record of the pet and owners," Langston said. "It's becoming more routine for animal shelters and animal control officers to have the scanner that is needed to detect this electronic identifier."

Currently, only a serial number is placed on the chip, but this number is unique to the chip so the animal can be traced effectively. Fees associated with this method are the minimal cost of injection and the registration fee. One common brand charges $15 to register one pet and $40 for up to eight pets.

But sometimes pets are lost despite an owner's best efforts. When that happens, try to identify the area where the pet was lost. Provide the pet's name, description owner's phone number to people in that area, as well as to animal control officers. Posting signs, offering rewards and placing notices in the newspaper all can help a pet and owner be reunited.

Championships are the first-place state-level winners selected on a competitive basis, and they are vying for "the Gold" as well as scholarships, tools and equipment prizes.

Winners will be announced during an awards ceremony, and the winners list will be posted on SkillsUSA's website at www.skillsusa.org.

VICA is a nationwide partnership of business and industry, vocational students and instructors. Its principle goals are to motivate students and teach leadership skills, assist teachers in providing quality occupational training, and help businesses recruit motivated workers.

Country legend George Jones comes to Grand Casino Biloxi

By most accounts, George Jones is the finest vocalist in country music history. Initially, he was a hardcore honky tonker in the tradition of his idols Lefty Frizzell, Roy Acuff and Hank Williams, but he later developed a subtle ballad style.

Over his five-decade career, from the '50s to today, Jones has never left the top of the country charts, even as he suffered numerous personal and professional difficulties.

Born and raised in east Texas, Jones displayed an affection for music at an early age. Gospel music was a strong influence early on, but his fascination with country music took over at age seven when his family bought a radio.

At the age of nine, his father bought him his first guitar. It wasn't long before he began performing for small audiences and developing his musical excellence.

In 1953, record producer Pappy Daily, who was also the co-owner of Starday Records, a local Texas label, discovered Jones, impressed with Jones' potential, Daily signed the singer to his record label.

Jones released "Why, Baby, Why?" late in the summer of 1955 and the single became his first hit, peaking at number four.

His first country No. 1 came in 1959 with "White Lightning." He hit No. 1 again in 1961 with "Tender Years" and "She Thinks I Still Care," which also led to Male Vocalist of the Year awards from the Country Music Association in 1962 and again in 1963.

His solo success career exploded again in 1980 with his signature ballad "He Stopped Loving Her Today." The single hit No. 1 and began a new series of Top Ten hits. The string of hits was so successful it rivaled the peak of his popularity in the '60s.

In 1992 the CMA recognizes Jones' monumental career by electing him to the Country Music Hall of Fame. Touting a new album for 1999, Jones is ready to bring his storied collection of past and present hits to center stage.

Jones performs at the Biloxi Grand Theatre Thursday, July 29 at 8 p.m. Tickets are $39.95/floor, $34.95/balcony and are on sale now at the Biloxi Grand Theatre (1-800-WIN-2-WIN ext. 2804 and at TicketMaster outlets.

Kaplan College side singles at Southern

High school guidance counselors across the nation have singled out the University of Southern Mississippi as a top school in a half-dozen categories, including "Best Value for Your Money."

The Kaplan Newsweek College Catalog 1999 is the result of a national survey of public and private high school guidance counselors, who were asked which colleges they recommend to their students and why. The college guide features comprehensive data on more than 1,000 schools in all 50 states and the District of Columbia.

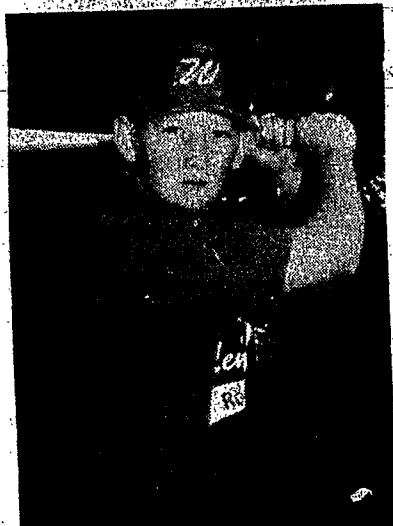

According to the survey, Southern Mississippi was singled out as a top school in the following categories:

- Schools with the Best Range of Extracurricular Activities,
- Schools offering the Maximum Amount of Individual Academic Attention,
- Schools for the Student Who is Learning Disabled,
- Schools Providing a Good Liberal Arts Education,
- Schools with Notable Study-Aboard Programs,
- Schools Representing the Best Value for Your Money.

The guide covers a mixture of schools—ranging from the massive University of Texas, Austin, to tiny Deep Springs College; and from engineering schools such as Georgia Tech to performing arts schools such as Julliard. Each school is featured in a one page summary of pertinent information.

According to Simon and Schuster Consumer Group in New York City, the complete results of the national survey are available in the catalog, which is available wherever books are sold or on the Internet at www.amazon.com. For more information contact Simon and Schuster at (212) 698-7000.

Favre nominated for Who's Who

Jules Favre

Jules Favre has been nominated to be included in the 33rd annual edition of Who's Who Among American High School Students, 1998-99, an honor reserved for only five percent of the nation's high school students each year.

Favre will be a sophomore at Bay High School for the 1999-2000 school year. He is a member of the Bay High Tigers football team and a senior member of the Waveland Little League where he is currently playing on the 15-year-olds All-Star team.

Favre's future college plans include Mississippi State University. He is the son of Jules and Crystal Favre of Waveland.
